

I Read

Once upon a time a dog lived in a valley. The valley was between two mountains. There were castles on top of the mountains.

It was six o'clock in the evening. The dog was running around in the valley. He was very hungry. He was looking for his dinner. He was chasing a bird when he heard a noise. It was a trumpet. The noise was coming from the first castle. This meant that it was dinner time there. When the dog heard the trumpet from the first castle, he looked up. 'I can get dinner there,' he said.

The dog was climbing the mountain when the trumpet stopped. Just then, he heard another trumpet. It was the trumpet from the second castle. When the dog heard the trumpet from the second castle, he stopped. 'I will be late for dinner at the first castle,' he told himself. 'But they're starting dinner at the second castle.' He turned around and rushed to the bottom of the mountain. Then he ran across the valley and started to climb the second mountain.

The dog was half-way up the mountain when the trumpet from the second castle stopped. 'I will be late for dinner here,' he said to himself. 'What should I do?' Just then he heard the trumpet from the first castle again. The dog ran down the second mountain, rushed across the valley and started to climb the first mountain again.

But, once again, the same thing happened. The trumpet from the first castle stopped and the trumpet from the second castle started. The dog turned around when he heard the trumpet from the second castle. He rushed up and down both mountains until the trumpets stopped. In the end, the dog didn't get any dinner!

Hans Christian Andersen

2 Put the sentences in order

(1d)

- a The dog ran down the first mountain.
- b He started to climb the first mountain.
- c The trumpet from the first castle stopped.
- d The dog heard the trumpet from the first castle.
- e He ran down the second mountain.
- f He started to climb the second mountain.
- g The trumpet from the second castle stopped.
- h The dog heard the trumpet from the first castle again.
- i He started to climb the first mountain again.
- j The trumpet from the second castle started.

3 Complete the sentences

- 1 The dog was chasing a bird when he heard the trumpet from the first castle.

- 1 The dog ____ a bird when he ____ the trumpet from the first castle.
- 2 When the dog ____ the trumpet from the first castle, he ____ up.
- 3 The dog ____ the first mountain when he ____ the trumpet from the second castle.
- 4 When the dog ____ the trumpet from the second castle, he ____.

4 Look at the pictures and answer the questions

1a The dog was running around when he saw a rabbit.

- 1a What was the dog doing when he saw a rabbit?
b What did he do when he saw the rabbit?

- 2a What was the dog doing when the rabbit went down a hole?
b What did he do when the rabbit went down the hole?
- 3a What was the dog doing when the rabbit came out of the hole?
b What did he do when the rabbit came out of the hole?

5 Look at the pictures on the next page. Put the sentences in order

1b

- a The first rabbit fell into the water.
b The dog jumped up and caught the rabbit.
c In the end, the dog didn't get any dinner!
d The dog was crossing a river when he saw another dog.
e He ran off with the rabbit in his mouth.
f The other dog had a rabbit too.
g He opened his mouth to bite the second rabbit.
h It got up quickly and ran off!
i The dog wanted that rabbit too.

6 Your work

Write the story of the dog and the rabbits in your own words.

It was one o'clock in the afternoon. The dog was running around in the valley when he saw a rabbit.

