Tanni Grey is a sporting hero. She's got five Olympic gold medals but she can't run or walk. Tanni is disabled. She uses a wheelchair in competitions.

Tanni started doing sport at school. 'I could play netball with the other girls,' says Tanni. 'Netball is like basketball but in netball you can't move with the ball. It didn't matter that I was in a wheelchair.'

At home and alone wheelchair users can still exercise. Tanni throws a ball at a wall and catches it herself. She also goes swimming once or twice a week. 'Swimming's good for disabled people,' says Tanni. 'You can also push your own wheelchair as much as possible. That has made my arms stronger. And that's why I won my gold medals.'
