London is the capital city of Britain. Over six million people live in London.

In London there are lots of shops and restaurants and cinemas and museums.

There's a big clock called Big Ben.

There are lots of parks too. And there's a zoo. It's in Regent's Park. There isn't a beach in London. There's a river called the river Thames, and there are lots of bridges. This is Tower Bridge.

There are palaces too. The Queen lives in Buckingham Palace.

There are six big stations and lots of small stations. And there's an underground railway. It's the longest in the world. There are big red buses too.
